City of Opelousas Announces Pressure Testing in Distribution System

The City of Opelousas is pleased to inform its residents and businesses that it will be conducting pressure testing within the distribution system. This essential testing is scheduled to take place on Tuesday, November 14, 2023, and may result in temporary low water pressure for customers during the testing period.

The purpose of this pressure testing is to evaluate the overall distribution system and ensure its efficiency and reliability. By conducting these tests, the City of Opelousas aims to identify any potential issues and proactively address them, ultimately improving the water supply for all residents and businesses.

While the testing is underway, it is possible that customers may experience low water pressure or even a temporary loss of water supply. We understand the inconvenience this may cause and apologize in advance for any disruptions.

In the event that you experience low water pressure or no water supply during the testing period, we encourage you to contact the City of Opelousas at 337-948-2556. Our dedicated team will be available to address any concerns or provide assistance as needed.

The City of Opelousas would like to express its gratitude to all residents and businesses for their understanding and cooperation during this essential testing. By working together, we can ensure a reliable and efficient water distribution system that meets the needs of our community.

For further updates and information, please visit the official City of Opelousas Facebook page. We will continue to provide updates on the progress of the pressure testing and any related developments.

Thank you for your cooperation and support.
